

LOCAL SOCIAL EVENTS

Home from Mountains.
Mr. and Mrs. Larsey P. Carr, who had spent the past summer at their cottage at Mt. Lake Park, Md., arrived home last night. They will spend a few weeks here before leaving for Atlanta, Ga., to spend the winter with their daughters, Mrs. Burt Martin and Miss Abbie Carr.

Called Off.
The fifth annual session of the West Virginia Library association scheduled to be held at Clarksburg October 22, has been called off on account of the ban placed upon public gatherings by town and state health officials.

Reilly-Nuzum.
The marriage of Miss Callie Nuzum, daughter of Mrs. Alice Nuzum, of Barrackville, to the Rev. Garnett Martin Reilly, of Fairchance, Pa., was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Chas. I. Ice, at Barrackville. The marriage, which was one of attractive appointments, was witnessed by relatives and intimate friends. The Rev. J. R. Hoy, of the First Baptist church at Bridgeport, W. Va., performed the marriage ceremony and the bride and groom were unattended.

Following the ceremony the Rev. and Mrs. Reilly left in an automobile for an eastern wedding journey, and on their return they will reside at Fairchance where the former is pastor of the First Baptist church.

Mrs. Reilly is a graduate of the West Virginia University and also took a special course at Columbia University. She has been instructor in Domestic science at the West Virginia University for the past two years. The Rev. Mr. Reilly is a graduate of Denison University at Granville, O., and of the University of Pennsylvania. He also took a theological course at Crozier Seminary at Chester, Pa.

Among relatives here for the marriage were Miss Rachael Colwell and Miss Nina Reilly, of Morgantown; Mr. and Mrs. Okey Reilly, of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hardesty, of Enterprise; Mrs. J. H. Nazum and son, of Shinnston; Miss Ora Reilly, of Bridgeport.

Home from Washington.
Mrs. Vaughn Jolliffe and Mrs. Francis E. Nichols arrived home yesterday from Washington, D. C., where they went for a conference with Potomac division officials in regard to the formation of a unit of women for overseas service in canteen and hospital but service. The organization of the unit will be undertaken in the near future.

Announce Engagement.
Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. William A. McCreery, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothea Moore McCreery, to William Ward Scott, Jr., of Washington, D. C., now captain in the U. S. Marine corps. No date for the marriage has been named.

Capt. Scott is a son of General and Mrs. Wm. W. Scott, formerly of this city, and is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Rice, of the East side.

AGED MAN IS PLACED UNDER A PAROLE

Peter Gump Must Remain at County Farm With His Family.

In Intermediate court yesterday afternoon Judge Vincent tried Peter Gump on a charge of non-support of his family, who are now at the county poor farm. He entered a plea of guilty. The authorities have been looking for Gump since last June. Gump was paroled in the care of M. A. Sturm, overseer of the county poor farm, and E. Q. Musgrove, county probation officer. Gump is sixty-five years old and formerly was at the poor farm with his family, where he was engaged in working about the place.

Last evening was the time set for the trial of Lally Mugnano, an Italian, lad, who was charged with stealing a bundle of Pittsburgh newspapers from E. C. Stemple. Mugnano failed to show up and a capias will be issued for him. It is reported that Lally was forcibly detained at home.

In the chancery cause of Joseph F. Hamilton vs. Mary A. Hamilton, an action of desertion evidence was taken before Judge Vincent. The case will be disposed of later.

Navy is in Need of Steam Engineers

Engineering officers for the transport and supply ships is now one of the pressing needs of the navy, and the supply is far short of the demand for capable men. To meet the need the Navy department has established the U. S. Navy Steam Engineering school at Hoboken, N. J. The voluntary induction of men through their local boards can now be made.

The school is open to men who meet the physical requirements of the navy, who are of thorough ability and officer-like material and have completed the mechanical, electrical or civil engineering course at any recognized university, or possesses an equivalent education and experience. The course comprises approximately five months viz:

One month at the Belham Bay Training Station, Pelham Bay, N. Y.
One month technical instruction at the U. S. Navy Steam Engineering School, Hoboken, N. J.
Two months' training on board steamers, ferry boats and a trip across the ocean.

One month final technical instruction at the U. S. Navy Steam Engineering School, Hoboken, N. J.

The graduates of this school will be assigned to duties as engineering officers of the transport and supply ships. They will be commissioned at Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve Force. The salary of an Ensign at sea is $155 a month and $185 a month, if he has dependents.

This is a wonderful opportunity for men who are steam engineers to continue in their profession and eventually perform services for Uncle Sam.

Men interested and who can qualify will call or write to Navy Mobilization Officer, 101 W. Main St., Norfolk, Va., or nearest recruiting station.

JUDGE GIVES BOY CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD

Jesse Jamison Paroled Over Period of Five Years And Bond Taken.

After carefully considering the case Judge Haymond in Circuit court yesterday decided to parole Jesse Jamison, who confessed to robbing the residence of Samuel Hale.

Attorney E. R. Bell, counsel for the young man, asked the court for leniency on the grounds that Jamison was but sixteen years old and he was certain that he would make good if given another chance. Jamison's sisters and brothers-in-law were in court and promised to try to see that the young man goes right. Attorney Bell pointed out that the case of two boys is never alike and stated that should Jamison fail to do the right thing that he would be brought before the court on a charge of breaking his parole.

Prosecuting Attorney Haggerty opposed the parole strenuously and urged the court not to grant it. The young man had already been in the county jail for three months or more and previously was in the Reformatory school. Judge Haymond wanted inclined to send him to the penitentiary among hardened criminals before giving him another chance. The offense to which he confessed would have meant a five year sentence in the state penitentiary at Moundsville. Judge Haymond gave the boy a severe reprimand and warned him to be careful of his conduct in the future. If he fails to take advantage of the opportunity afforded him Judge Haymond said he would be sauled into court for parole-breaking and sentenced to the penitentiary on the charge that is hanging over him. This parole covers a five year period and the young man's relatives were obliged to furnish bond in the sum of $200 to guarantee his good behavior.

HALLOWE'EN NUT PARTY AND SAVE SHELS

By BIDDY BYE.

The U. S. Food administration is asking us to save nut shells to be burned and used in making gas masks.

The way to accumulate nut shells is to eat nuts.

The proper place to eat nuts is at a Halloween party!

Therefore the truly patriotic hostess will make the annual Halloween frolic a nut party—and carefully save all the shells.

A Halloween party is an ideal wartime entertainment because it provides a maximum of fun and relaxation at a minimum of expense. No expensive prizes, no elaborate and expensive decorations are used, only the simplest refreshments need be served, and no money or time need be wasted on "something to wear" to the party. For usually the proper costume is a swathing sheet and pillow case, tissue paper, cin in the shape of a large nut, folded tightly and enclose in empty English walnut shells. Deliver by "small boy post!" ask each guest to bring a pound of hickory nuts or walnuts. Ask the girls to bring nut wear, a sheet or pillow case, keeping the contents of their parcels a secret.

Decorate the house simply with autumn leaves, corn shocks and jack o' lanterns, and cover all lights with red and yellow paper. If possible have an open fire on the hearth.

As the guests arrive ask them to empty their nut contributions into big wooden leaves. Have the girls take their parcels to an upstairs room and leave them.

For the first game stage a nut-cracking contest for boys and girls. Crack the nuts on the hearth or on large stones provided for the purpose. Limit each contestant to three minutes and give a prize to the winner.

To the person first turning in a complete correct list givet a prize of a paper mache pumpkin filled with salted almonds.

Ask each guest to write a four-line limerick on "Peanuts" and give a prize of a beribboned jar of peanut butter to the author of the best rhyme.

Let the hostess next ask the men of the party to join in a nut-hunt through the lower rooms of the house. One by one let the girls slip upstairs and put on their sheets and pillow cases. The hostess should ask the girls to wait upstairs until called. In the meantime she stops the nut hunt and quickly helps the men to array themselves in masks, old hats, shawls and absurd costumes she has provided. Upstairs the hostess helps tall girls to appear short, short girls to grow tall, and fat or thin girls to disguise their weight—all with the aid of sheets and pillow cases. While some one plays a funeral march the ghosts walk down stairs and are in their turn surprised to find the men disguised and in costume. The hostess enjoys perfect silence—but asks each man to pick out the girl he brought to the party from the assembled ghosts. Partners are chosen for a dance, and after unmasking prizes are awarded the men who guessed right on the ghosts. Serve refreshments of nut-bread sandwiches filled with raisins or cottage cheese, a salad of apples, celery and chopped marshmallow, coffee, peanut cookies, gingerbread and mixed nuts.
